3 Myths about Siberia

«Eternal Winter»

It is true that during winter period temperature can fall 30 degrees below zero, which is not critical since there is low humidity and this makes winters not so harsh. To the contrary, late spring, summer and early autumn are warm. Moreover, each season has its own beauty you must experience!

«Not accessible and dangerous»

It is believed that Siberia is remote, dangerous and isolated place. Also, main cities such as Tomsk and Novosibirsk are far from the capital, Moscow. It is true that it takes 4 hours by plain to get to Tomsk but still it is one of the youngest cities in terms of student population. Moreover, there are many tourist popular destinations such as Altai Mountains and the Baikal Lake. Everything is easy to access by plane or train.

«Bears on the street»

It is true that in unpopulated areas of Taiga or in the Western Sayan Mountains or to the remote Chara Sands desert there are some bears. However, Tomsk or Novosibirsk cities are far away from those places and it is even hard to imagine bears coming to the city.

Student Opinions

Melikh Buyukkoroglu:

I live in Tomsk third year and study English philology. Foreign languages studies are not very good in Turkey, my friend advised me to go to Russia. Here I have an opportunity to learn two languages: English and Russian. I like taking pictures and posting views of Tomsk to my parents. I especially like the fact that there are many trees in Tomsk. For three years, I feel almost Russian.

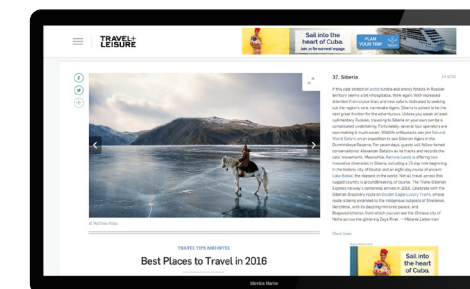

Valentina Mellino :

I arrived in Tomsk as an exchange student. At the University of Naples I study Russian language and literature. If I am asked where to study Russian language and culture I would definitely say 'Tomsk!' This city is not too big but also not too small. Ideal place for students. I feel safe here that is why I believe Tomsk is an ideal place to live in!
